

INDEXES TO MICHIGAN NEWSPAPERS

Compiled by Le Roy Barnett, July, 2009

As a researcher of Michigan history, I have often relied over the years upon newspaper indexes to find information on subjects of interest. Three of the most helpful of these access tools are the online digitized versions of the Chicago Tribune and the New York Times, along with the WPA card index to the Milwaukee Sentinel (1837-1893) at the Milwaukee Public Library. I seldom sought out indexes to Michigan newspapers because most seemed to be of recent vintage, relatively short duration, and widely scattered.

Nevertheless, I knew that to be thorough in my work I needed to track down and consult the existing finding aids to information in Michigan's newspapers. Learning that no one had prepared a list of these available resources, with the help of the Historical Society of Michigan I decided to create such a handy reference guide. What you see below is a product of that effort. If mistakes are found or additions are needed, kindly bring these deficiencies to the attention of the Society (hsm@hsmichigan.org) and the necessary modifications will be made to the following table (due to space limitations, some entries have been abbreviated).

The “Call Number” column provides details for locating the actual physical index located at a library or if the index is available online the location is hyperlinked. The key below provides information for online content.

*available online at no cost

**available online for a fee

***available online to Michigan residents at no cost through the Michigan Electronic Library, MeL, www.mel.org

****available online while in the library

The “Library” column shows the physical location of the index or the organization providing access to a website. When possible these are hyperlinked so users can easily obtain information about the institution or organization.

Anyone seeking newspaper indexes for other states can start by looking at Herbert Brayer's “Preliminary Guide to Indexed Newspapers in the United States, 1850-1900” (Mississippi Valley Historical Review, September 1946, pages 237-258) or Anita Cheek Milner's three-volume work, Newspaper Indexes: A Location and Subject Guide for Researchers.
